

What is your gift?

SAGE inspires people over fifty to give forward with their time, talent, and passion to enable younger and future generations to thrive.

Older adults are stewards of our nation, and many are concerned that the opportunities that were available to them – like affordable education, environmental quality, and economic security – are at risk. SAGE inspires people to share their gifts of time and talent to safeguard opportunities for coming generations. If you believe each generation should improve conditions for the next, we invite you to get involved with SAGE.

SAGE offers three ways to inspire people to give forward:

Advancing leadership and innovation

Legacy Fellowship — Ten-month program to train leaders to launch local benefit projects of their own design.

SAGE Award — Honoring leaders for extraordinary service to younger and future generations.

Raising awareness about challenges facing the future, and solutions

Socials and Brown Bags — Facilitated conversations in living rooms and businesses to discuss challenges facing younger and future generations, and to share ideas on how older adults can help.

Visiting SAGE Speakers — Outstanding speakers to inspire people to find new pathways to civic service.

Traveling SAGE — Interactive presentation highlighting several social, environmental, and economic challenges facing the future.

Connecting people to resources and service opportunities

StoryTree — Website features exemplary individuals known as “Sages” who champion local causes and mentor peers interested in giving forward in their community.

E-Newsletter — Features special events, advocacy tips and exciting opportunities to volunteer with nonprofits.

Online Library — Articles and reports underscore the importance of civic leadership and service in an era of unprecedented need.
