So future generations can thrive

SAGE is a Portland-based nonprofit that engages older adults in causes that benefit children, youth and future generations. This year's celebration will highlight the many ways generations can work together to solve our most pressing challenges. The event will feature remarks from Mayor Ted Wheeler, stories from young adults working across generations, and inspiring music from the Intergenerational Choir and the Chibishibishi Marimba Band. This will be a fun event and an excellent opportunity to show support for the SAGE community by attending and/or through promotional materials with a large audience of business executives, community leaders, philanthropic volunteers and SAGE members.
