

Do you love to organize and plan? Join our Office Sages

If you are one of those awesome volunteers who loves to organize and plan, we'd love to have you come onboard as one of our Office Sages!

Here's some of what you could do to assist us.

- Lead or support on a wide range of office activities that keep us humming along, like filing, data entry and preparing outreach materials.
- Help connect us to more supporters by organizing contact information for SAGE outreach campaigns.
- Spread your inspiration to others by periodically updating our generational equity library and website to highlight the challenges faced by younger and future generations, and solutions.
- Occasionally assist with writing and editing impactful materials. Raise awareness about grant and other funding opportunities to pursue.

✓ Very flexible time commitment. A few hours here and there really helps!

Why serve as one of our Office Sages?

- Your efforts play a key role in helping SAGE build a community of advocates dedicated to creating opportunities for tomorrow.
- For every high impact program, you're on the team that makes it happen. Volunteers are the backbone of all of SAGE's programs.

How does SAGE make a difference?

"SAGE provides a supportive structure to help people give back in a meaningful way and in a way that benefits younger generations." – Linda Hunter
